Sindhi language is a medium of teaching in schools, colleges and universities in Sindh. In most government schools in Sindh, primary education is given in Sindhi language. It is also the medium of instruction, and the medium of examination up to university level. Sindhi subject is compulsory in government colleges as well. The general universities of public sector are running a Sindhi department for students of Bachelors, Masters and Ph.D level. One such society is the Sindhi Subject Society Karachi, established in 2003 by teachers teaching Sindhi subject from various colleges with the aim of promoting their subject.

No written record of these subject societies can be found. No history was written or preserved by any member or others. For this reason, a first ever brief history and analysis of the progress of Sindhi Subject Society Colleges Karachi has been written in this research paper.
